

Novel BLR Molecules Affecting Antibiotic Susceptibility

ABSTRACT

A novel 358 base pair sequence encoding a membrane protein that affects susceptibility to antibiotics that affect peptidoglycan synthesis in microbes is described. BLR nucleic acid and polypeptide molecules are provided. In addition, screening assays to identify agents that modulate BLR activity are described.